Join the Third-Termers.

The Department of Agriculture has issued what it regards a highly important new bulletin on the cotton boll weevil. It states that the most advanced step in controlling the weevil is the removal of the plants on which it is known to be practicable this fall. The department holds that from its experience the destruction of the plants on which the weevil is known to be practicable method of weevil control.

gives instances where this treatment of the fields has resulted in an increase of 50 per cent in the current prices of cotton, of nearly, if not fully $20 an acre. The proposition is that the cotton of the soil will be as numerous as the plants themselves, and will become so numerous that there is no prospect that any more cotton will be raised.

Representative Edwards, of the seventh district, left to-night for Newmarket. He predicts that Williston will be elected by a large majority, and that he will be elected by 15,000. Representative Mayley, of the Tenth district, with Representative Hughes, of Foster, will leave for Newmarket to-morrow. The two will make a number of speeches in the eastern part of the State.

CHARGED WITH WHITE-CAPPING IN INDIANA.

Columbus, Ind., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Charles Seitz, of Bartholomew county, and Joseph, Charles and Andrew Stull, of Monroe county, came here this morning to make their appearance in State Kinney's court for their preliminary hearing on a charge of white-capping Thomas Van Est, a blacksmith, of South Bethany, June 13, but before the time for the hearing had arrived they were arrested on bench warrants issued by the Judge of the Circuit court on grand jury indictments re-

Two shots rang out on the still night of last evening close to the hour of midnight. Police and detectives at the City Hall heard the report and hurried to the scene, expecting to find that a crime had been committed. People men to spring up from the ground and the scores, and it was not long before a large crowd had gathered at Sixth and Jefferson streets, anxious to witness the truth. "Did you hear that?" one remembered one of the policemen said to a bystander, "he had arrived a minute in advance of the others. Yes, I heard it," responded the man, and the noisy party placed themselves on car tracks.

Cobb's Injury Not Serious.

Washington, Oct. 3.—It developed tonight that the injury sustained by the proctists, who retired from the game with Washington to-day in the eighth inning, was not serious. The injury occurred in the sixth inning, will not keep him out of the games at St. Louis. Cobb responded at old Washington in the first, causing considerable pain, and Manager Jennings, who was on the bench, said he would well have taken him out in order to prevent him from further endangering the injured leg.

eds Train At St. Augustine.
 Cincinnati, Oct. 3.—The Cincinnati National League baseball team will do their preliminary training at St. Augustine, Fla., in the spring of 1906. The management of the club announced to-day that all arrangements have been completed for the use of the Y. M. C. A. grounds at St. Augustine. The members of the club will leave for the training grounds on March 10.

night than any of the others. Mr. Cohen and C. W. Watson, each of whom drew out two pairs, were next best with eight credits. Lawrence Jones, who got on the prize list twice, added seven points to his roll of honor, while Mrs. Hunt, with a second and a third, and George Watson, with two third ties, added five and four respectively to their account.

Salvator and the Arabs Again.

Salvator and the Arabs did their several stunts in the ring last night, both enjoying for a few minutes the demonstration which always greets their appearance. All of the Arabs were under the saddle last night and cavorted about on the tumbler surface with a grace that was all that could be desired. Salvator didn't seem to be in a very good humor last night, but let himself be looked at without much show of disdain. Owing to the inclement weather the feature of the display of the Arabs had to be dispensed with. Gen. John B. Castleman, who was to lead Mison, one of the gray Arab stallions, while Homer Davenport led Carolina, didn't want to risk taking the valuable mare out over the slippery and soggy streets from the stable in Castledown, so the exhibition was postponed until to-night, when it will be given.

Rain Without Effect On Ardor.

Rain rattled on the roof of the big Armory the greater part of the afternoon yesterday, and what that signified in other parts of the city served to dampen the enthusiasm of those who had planned to venture forth last night. While the audience on Wednesday night was perhaps larger than last night, it was no more interesting in what was going on in the ring, nor was it able to tell whether what was going on was notable. There was no noticeable falling off in the size nor the enthusiasm of the horse-loving men who crowd to the rail so close that they feel the brush of the wind as the speeding horses sweep by. Here devotees in evening clothes jostle with men who spend their spare minutes when there is "nothing doing" in the ring, in examining the curious make-up of what fashion dictates the man "who goes out" must array himself in.

Stable Attaches Keenly Critical.

The crowding group of stable attaches at the end of the ring where are the entrance gates is another substantial indication of the fact that the love of a good horse knows no caste. This group is made up, night after night, of men and boys whose pride in the showing made by their stables is personal, and whose exultation in victory and disappointment in defeat is keener or more bitter than that known by those who employ them. Not only do they know the feel of the lines over their favorite's backs, but they know their horses intimately, and talk to them as one man to another as they seek their glossy quarters or black their hoofs.

Batony Cup Contest To-night.

What is counted the feature of to-night's programme is the ninth in the list, the contest for the Batony Challenge Cup, donated five years ago by Aurel Batony, of New York. Should Gallant Lad be able to down Hildred, Lord Baltimore and the other cracks which will compete with him, the trophy will go to Lawrence Jones permanently. The entries in this class are C. W. Watson's Ringing Bells and Lord Baltimore, Miss Bedford's Hildred, Powhatan Woodbridge's Lord Lorry and Mr. Jones' Gallant Lad and Mr. Hickman.

CLASS 56: HEAVY DRAFT.

Frank Fehr Shows One Magnificent Delivery Outfit of Six.

The Frank Fehr Brewing Company's attractive six-horse turnout, beautifully appointed, was the only one of the three entries to pass the gate when Pete Roth, bugler for the First Kentucky regiment sounded boots and saddles at 8:15 o'clock last night for the first ring in the programme. The outfit was of heavy draft outfit, used for delivery and heavy hauling, to consist of four or more horses. The entry was of six very fine black and white mares, and four horses, Maggie and Dollie, Dick and Rob, Emperor and King. The last two, which won the first place on Tuesday night, The lines were handled by Charles Wolfarth, the man who drives the same horses every day.

CLASS 48: PARK PAIRS.

Showing of Some Very Stylish Local Turnouts.

Harry W. Robinson, of Louisville, driving his Bessie and Bonnie, two very stylish mares, was the first to enter the ring in the second class of the evening—that for harness horses, local park pairs. The crowd at that time, even, had not grown to the dimensions it assumed soon after, but Mr. Robinson's team was received with some show of approval. He was closely followed into the ring by John H. Caperton, driving his count, the bag gelding which took the first in the class for heavy harness horses on Monday night, and Chester Girl, a lovely bay mare, both with class and action.

The third entry, that of Mrs. Alvin T. Hott, Bettie Carter and Prince, a bay mare and a gray gelding, were driven by Richard N. Lott, chairman of the Ring Committee. These horses, as were those of Mr. Caperton, drew a mail photo, while the Robinson entry drew a runaway. The entry of Mrs. Louis John was scratched.

Popular approval was manifested when the blue was the Robinson entry, the red to the Hott entry and the yellow to the Robinson entry. The Caperton horses, pretty well matched, considering that mares to Count do not grow on every horse farm, showed very fine form for park pairs, although not as brilliant as some. The Hott horses were a bit modest, it was said. The Robinson horses, a delightful pair, dis-

ONE OF THE DISTINGUISHED VISITORS AT HORSE SHOW

The multi-millionaire mine owner and horseman, who, with beautiful Hildred, Miss Bedford, visited the Horse Show this evening. The picture shows him with the horse, which he sent to the Horse Show as a representative of his interest in the "Hons."

CLASS 29: FIVE GAIT.

Three of the Finest Horses in All Kentucky Shown.

Three out of five entered were shown in the class for five-gaited horses, four years old and under, the third class of the evening. Roosevelt, the entry of Collins & Redmond, of North Middletown, being scratched because he went lame in his stable last week, and Marshall King, the entry of W. J. McLean & A. G. Jones, also of North Middletown, being withdrawn. There had been four premiums offered in this class. No one was much surprised when Edna Mae drew first over the Burr entry, and much approval was shown. Golden Glow, as on Monday night, proved to be very popular with the audience, and was also well liked by the judge and Scott Isabel, of Bowling Green, who was the judge of the class, and who ordered the animals stripped for conformation before he awarded the premiums.

CLASS 18: HARNESS TANDEMS.

Three Very Pretty Turnouts From Among Best Stables Showing.

Lord Baltimore, the great C. W. Watson bay gelding, led My Maryland, the beautiful bay gelding from the same stable into the ring in the fourth class of the evening. My Maryland, a five-year-old, and continued with head up and in perfect form straight along the road to the first tie. Gallant Lad, Lawrence Jones' mighty fine harness horse, was inclined to act up a bit last night, especially in this class, and he and Gallant Lad, although they made a very nice showing and appeared greatly to the audience, did not manage to get into anything better than second place after the two well-behaved animals which were shown to the best advantage by Frank Whitebottom. The entry of George Watson's two, Lady Watson, a six-year-old bay mare, and Viscount, a five-year-old bay gelding, was also shown, and had to be content with the third ribbon. They are nice animals and were well liked on both sides of the fence, exhibiting indisputably the fact that they had been well schooled.

CLASS A: IN HARNESS, SINGLE.

as are brought together in one ring only on very rare occasions, were driven in when Class A—that for stallions, mares and geldings—was called. Latest of the post entry of Mrs. Jarvis Hunt, of Wheaton, Ill., led the string of beauties into the ring, and from that time until she had been driven into the waiting shed again was cheered most heartily whenever she was performing. This beautiful five-year-old little bay mare is most popular among the stable men, who crowd the railing at the entrance gates, and who, although they may be prejudiced persons, know the good points of a horse when they see them.

J. W. Ogden, of New York, and R. A. Fairbank, of Westport, N. J., who awarded the honors in this class, were hard put, it seemed, to decide which of the seven contestants was to bear away the blue ribbon. Several times they requested various of the entries to make the trotting and cantering, which to the delight of the crowd, with which the decision seemed to be held as much in suspense as with the judges.

At length they decided on Donner, Miss Bedford's exceptionally fine nine-year-old black gelding, which under her skillful handling showed, as was shown in numerous past performances, how high he can step and how steady he is. Miss Bedford smiled prettily when the blue ribbon was tied to the check strap of her horse, and gracefully acknowledged the plaudits of the large audience. Donner never went better in all his life.

Second place went to Mrs. Jarvis Hunt's Latest Fad, one of the toppest bay mares ever shown anywhere. This horse is known in all show rings and is counted one of the wonders of horsemanship. Third tie went to Snapshot, the almost invincible entry from the George Watson stable, in his own runaway class, and almost as good as any as a small harness horse. The three in numerous past performances, how high he can step and how steady he is. Miss Bedford smiled prettily when the blue ribbon was tied to the check strap of her horse, and gracefully acknowledged the plaudits of the large audience. Donner never went better in all his life.

The two C. W. Watson entries, Ringing Bells, a chestnut mare, six years old, and Kitty Gray, another aged chestnut mare, driven by Frank Whitebottom, and Harry Wadsworth respectively, were not acting well last night, and although given several opportunities to steady down by the judges, couldn't behave themselves well enough to suit the arbiters, who have to go by what they see done.

Honor Bright, a brown gelding, five years old, entered by J. S. Walsh, Jr., of Kinloch, Mo., and driven by J. S. Walsh, although he showed speed, didn't have the qualities possessed by the prize winners to a degree advanced enough to get him into the money. The same was true of Honesty, another brown gelding, entered from the same stable and driven by Mr. Walsh.

ENTRIES FOR TO-NIGHT.

Diversified and Promising Programme Will Bring Out Good Horses.

For the fifth night of the horse show the management offers one of the best programmes of the week, the chief interest centering on the contest for the Batony Cup. This coveted trophy has been won twice by Lawrence Jones, with his great horse, Gallant Lad, but the third time up, last year, was carried off by Lord Baltimore, the C. W. Watson show horse of much note. Both have been downed this year by Miss Bedford's Hildred.

CAMPAIGN FOR $40,000 BUILDING

HOME WANTED FOR THE BOWLING GREEN Y. M. C. A.

Bowling Green, Ky., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—A campaign for $40,000 for a Young Men's Christian Association building in this city was inaugurated to-night at a banquet which was attended by a large representation of the city. Dr. H. H. Cherrill, of Nashville, was the principal speaker and acted as toastmaster. Addresses were also made by W. H. Weaver, of Henderson, State secretary; Henry E. Rosecrans, also by J. B. Rodes, H. H. Cherrill, J. B. Darker and the Rev. W. M. Irvine. Subscriptions aggregating $11,325 were announced at the meeting, including a gift of a lot costing $4,625 by W. M. L. Burton, of New Orleans, La., a former Bowling Green resident. A fifteen-day canvass will be prosecuted by a business men's committee and a young men's committee numbering forty each.

The interest in the canvass is enthusiastic and there is a full determination to raise the entire amount within the time limit, which will expire Friday night, October 18.

EX-GOV. BRADLEY HEARS OF DEATH OF NEPHEW.

Guest of Friends in Lexington To-day and Will Deliver Address To-night.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 3.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Bradley, who is stopping at the State Hotel in behalf of the Republican State ticket, arrived here this afternoon from Danville, and will rest at the guest of friends here until to-morrow evening, when he will deliver a speech at the Lexington Opera-house. He was met at the depot by Wilbur R. Smith, State clerk, and accompanied to the Republican City Campaign Committee, where he spent the night. Col. Bradley this evening received a telegram announcing the death of a nephew, W. K. Bacheller, of Atlanta, Ga., and was therefore not disposed to see callers or discuss politics. "I was fond of my boy," said the former Governor to-night, and did not seem to be talking. Col. Bradley will spend to-morrow quietly at Mr. Smith's residence until 6 o'clock in the evening, when he will go to the Phoenix Hotel, where he will hold an informal reception. The speaking at the opera-house will begin at 8 o'clock. Bradley will be introduced by Charles Kerr, who will introduce Col. Bradley.

WILLSON IN PADUCAH.

Republican Nominee Speaks To 1,500 People In Paducah.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 3.—[Special.]—About 1,500 people assembled at Fifth street and Kentucky avenue to-night to see Augustus E. Willson, Republican candidate for governor, who finishes his tour of the First district this evening. Willson's speech was a partisan attempt to prove the corruption of the State Democracy and the purity of his own nomination. No dissent escaped his abuse. He charged Gov. Beckham with an excessive number of pardons for crimes against women and murder. He reiterated the old charge that Auditor Haeger was derelict in the case of the Rev. C. H. Smith, of Jefferson county, and accused Fire Marshal Mott Ayres of juggling State primary returns. Mr. Willson's chief plea was that keeping one party in power too long in Kentucky would eventuate in a condition like that existing in Pennsylvania, where the Republican ring has brought shame on the State. The speech was practically the same that had been delivered all over the First district.

Gets Thirty Years.

Pittsburg, Oct. 3.—Ludwig Czysiel, the Polish priest convicted of murder of the second degree for the killing of Andrew and Stephen Staryski, hotel proprietors of the South Side, last August, was sentenced this afternoon to undergo thirty years' imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary, with commutation for good behavior. Willson was reduced to about eighteen years and six months.

Crushed To Death.

Somerset, Ky., Oct. 2.—The young son of John S. Sumpter, of the west end of this county, was crushed to death by a beam of a wagon on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 9, 10 and 11. Dinner will be served on the grounds and a large crowd is expected every day.

TO DIVIDE SYNOD

Subject Before German Reformed Church.

PRESENT TERRITORY IS TOO WIDELY SCATTERED.

DELEGATES HERE FROM THE FAR NORTHWEST.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES.

Whether or not it will be advisable to divide the Synod of the Northwest of the German Reformed Church in the United States and Canada, will be decided either to-day, or to-morrow, by the delegates in session at Zion church, Hancock street and Broadway. There is every prospect that such a division will be made, as, according to one of the ministers who is attending the conference, the delegates from the congregations of the Middle West have already declared themselves in favor of it. The division will be one of both language and geography, as most of the congregations in the Middle West are English, while those in the West and in Canada have German services.

The question of dividing the synod came up at the conference held last year, when many of the delegates addressed the convention on the subject and urged the attending delegates to decide on a division because the territory covered by the present synod is almost too large to be embraced in one group. When the annual conferences are held, it was argued, many delegates are unable to attend because of the fact that they have too long a distance to go from their homes to the place of the conference, while many others attend the conventions at heavy expense. The present synod includes some of the remotest provinces of Canada, among them Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, many of the Western States and Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee and Missouri, in the Middle West.

Kentucky In Southern Synod.

If a division is made Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee and Missouri will be placed in one group, to be called the Southern Synod, while the other States and provinces of Canada will be placed in another group, to be called the Northwestern Synod. At the conference last year it was decided to have the delegates take a vote in their respective classes and report at the convention that is being held now. This report will be made either to-day or to-morrow.

An interesting address was made at the conference yesterday afternoon by Miss Sadie Lee Wagner, who for ten years has had charge of the Girls' School of the Reformed Church at Sendai, Japan. Miss Wagner has just returned from Japan after a continuous stay in that country for ten years, during which time she carried on missionary work. She arrived in Louisville yesterday afternoon and at once went to Zion church, where she delivered a short address, in which she gave a brief review of her work. Sunday afternoon she will speak at Zion church on the subject "Foreign Missions Work." This address she will give interesting illustrations of the way the introduction of religion in Japan has influenced the girls there.

Wants Debt Paid.

The Rev. B. Ruf. of Fort Wayne, Ind., one of the directors of the German Reformed Orphans' Home at that place, addressed the synod in behalf of the home. He reminded the delegates that next year this home will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary and appealed to them to make an effort to have the debt on the home, amounting to $75,000, cancelled by that time.

The work of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League was the subject of an address delivered by the Rev. John Zechler, a representative of the league. The Rev. Mr. Zechler, one of the leaders in the movement for prohibition in Wisconsin, and in his address he reviewed the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League and the results of the work of the members of the league. After this address the synod appointed a committee of five to define the synod's attitude toward the movement. This committee will make its report to-day, and on their decision will depend whether or not the synod will work in co-operation with the Anti-Saloon League.

Delegates Come Long Distances.

The 110 delegates were all in the city by yesterday morning. Some of them were travel-weary because of the long trips to Louisville they had just completed. Delegates from the States west of Ohio, as far south as Arkansas, and from the Northwestern Canadian States, Winnipeg, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The Rev. Dr. C. F. Kriete, pastor of Salem Reformed church, and the Rev. Dr. Otto Yitz, pastor of Zion Reformed church, both Louisville pastors, were honored at the opening of the synod by election to the offices of president and vice president respectively.

After the election of officers for the coming year, the Rev. Dr. C. F. Kriete, of Terre Haute, Ind., made the opening address, which dealt with the status of the church. The Rev. Dr. Kriete presided over yesterday's sessions, and will continue to do so during the week. The synod will come to a close Monday morning.

All the sessions yesterday and Wednesday evening were well attended. Yesterday's sessions began at 9 o'clock in the morning and continued with short intermissions until 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. During the day delegates served refreshments at the Rev. G. D. Elker, of Watkinson, Ind., and a paper was read by the Rev. C. H. Smith, of Watkinson, Ind., on the subject of "The Prophet of the Book of Joel."

The credentials of the Rev. J. H. Bell, of Covington, Ky., fraternal delegate from the Central Synod, and those of the Rev. F. S. Bromer, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., delegate from the Synod of the Interior, were received yesterday. Fraternal greetings will be exchanged either to-day or to-morrow.

The delegates to the synod are being served their meals in the Sunday-school rooms of the church by the women of the congregation. They are being entertained in the different homes of the city.
